Parnell introduces two new sedation products to pet care product line

Products are backed by 50 years of animal health experience

OVERLAND PARK, Kan. (May 15, 2024) – Today Parnell announced the introduction of two new sedation products to their pet care product line – Parnell Brand Dexmedetomidine Hydrochloride Injection and CONTRASED™ (atipamezole hydrochloride). These products are the first in what is planned to be a robust analgesic and anesthetic portfolio.

Although new to the veterinary pet care space, Parnell brings 50 years of experience in the animal health industry. With a commitment to delivering superior value and consistent supply, these product offerings are backed by a commitment to collaborative partnership as well as rigorous manufacturing standards controlled by Parnell.

Parnell Brand Dexmedetomidine Hydrochloride Injection offers sedation for use in dogs and cats. It can be used as a premedicant to anesthetic events which can lower the amount of induction agent and gas required, potentially lowering patient risk. It provides flexible dosing options with a reversible option for sedation during surgical and non-surgical procedures.

CONTRASED rapidly and reliably reverses the effects of Dexmedetomidine Hydrochloride Injection to reduce sedation time in dogs. This helps reduce or avoid overnight stays which can lower hospitalization costs for pet owners.

“We are excited to be bringing these options for veterinarians to use as part of their sedation protocols,” says Chelsie Estey, DVM, PhD, VP of US Pet Care Business at Parnell. “It is a priority for us to be seen as a trusted partner for veterinarians to help them offer the best care for their patients that also benefits their clinics.”

Parnell Brand Dexmedetomidine Hydrochloride Injection + CONTRASED™ are your tools for a reliable sedation and reversal process from a single reliable manufacturer for added simplicity.
